Clark and Anne Lewis Scholarship Winners

This year's recipients of the Clark and Anne Lewis Scholarships are Daniel Frazer from Maryfield and Roxanne Olynyk from Canora. Once again the selection committee had a great challenge in selecting our winners. All of the nominees from our various Agricultural Societies are tremendous young people, and certainly speak volumes about our future leaders in rural Saskatchewan.

President's Message:

Well another summer has come and gone. I hope that everyone had a great fair this year and that you were lucky enough to miss some of the extreme weather that has gone through the province this summer.

The SAASE board has been very busy and there are a lot of things to report. We are still working with the government on the infrastructure proposal for Agricultural Societies and their communities. The proposal that was put in through the Building Communities Program was turned down, but we are continuing discussions with the government. SAASE's funding agreement with Saskatchewan Lotteries expires in March of 2009 - we will be beginning negotiations with the Saskatchewan Lotteries and the government regarding a new agreement in September.

A big congratulations goes out to this year's winners of the Clark and Anne Lewis Scholarship. Once again our selection committee had a very tough task as all of the nominees are exceptional young people. This year's winners are Daniel Frazier - nominated by the Maryfield Agricultural Society, and Roxanne Olynyk - nominated by the Canora Agricultural Society. Thanks to all of the Agricultural Societies that submitted applications. The future of our province is certainly in good hands given the quality of youth that we have around the province.

SAASE has introduced the SAASE Associate Membership Program. This is a great opportunity to expand the membership base of SAASE, as well as give our members some great resources for goods and services providers. I am sure that most of you know some organization or company that could benefit from being a member of SAASE and having access to our provincial network of members. Take a look at the article in the newsletter, and remember that for every Associate Member that your Agricultural Society brings in to SAASE your Agricultural Society will be paid $100 for the first year. This is a great opportunity to help grow SAASE, as well as making some money for your Agricultural Society.

This November Saskatchewan is lucky enough to have the CAFE Convention being hosted in Saskatoon. This is a great opportunity for SAASE members to take in the convention without having to travel across Canada to get to it. The convention always features some great speakers, and excellent trade show and outstanding networking opportunities. Take advantage of this opportunity and check out the CAFE convention in Saskatoon in November.

This year has once again been a banner year for Venture Projects. The Mortlach Saskatoon Berry Festival was a great success, Prairieland Park introduced the AG-EXperience at their fair, Nokomis introduced the Home Grown Talent Showcase and, Meadow Lake had the Junior Rodeo Safety Workshops. The Venture Project Program is a great way to kickstart a new program within your community and I hope that all of our Agricultural Societies take advantage of the program. That's about it for now - hope everyone has a great harvest.

Saskatoon Exhibit : AG-EXperience

Agriculture made its return to the 2008 Saskatoon Exhibition with a new exhibit called the AG-EXperience.

PrairieLand Park, in partnership with leading industry stakeholders, developed this 10,000 square foot display to celebrate Saskatchewan agriculture. Interactive stations provide a fun, educational, hands-on environment for people to learn about the value and impact of agriculture and food production on their daily lives.

Phase One of the project features the beef, dairy, poultry and pork industries and include live animals on display to compliment the interactive stations. Fair-goers had the opportunity to learn about food production, nutrition, animal care, the effect of agriculture on the environment, and career options in the agriculture industry.

PrairieLand Park was very fortunate to also include in the AG-EXperience Agrium's interactive exhibit "Seed Survivor". Seed Survivor is an integral part of the Calgary Stampede's Ag-tivity in the city and Agrium does not normally send this exhibit to other venues. However, when Agrium learned about PrairieLand Park's AG-EXperience exhibit, they were convinced that the project was worthy of Seed Survivor.

The Farm Animal Council also participated in the AG-EXperience with their interactive display and a new Puppet Show. "Having the opportunity to be part of PrairieLand Park's AG-EXperience served the Farm Animal Council of Saskatchewan (FACS) extremely well. Not only did people visit our booth and test their knowledge with our interactive video game, our puppet theatre premier 'Tales from the FACS Farm' was enjoyed by many youngsters on Share the Fair Day," FACS Executive Director Adele Buettner said.

The AG-EXperience interactive displays will be utilized throughout the year during PrairieLand's agriculture shows as a component of the School Tours Program.

SAASE Introduces Associate/Service Membership

The SAASE Board of Directors are pleased to announce the SAASE Associate/Service Membership. The membership is meant for any individuals, companies or organisations that work within the fair industry in Saskatchewan. By building a strong Associate/Service Membership this will give SAASE members an opportunity to network with suppliers of goods and services. Many times, if we need something or have a problem, the biggest thing is knowing who to talk to. The Associate/Service Membership will give SAASE members that resource. This will also present an opportunity for SAASE members to generate some additional revenue. All of our members know an organisation or individual who should be a member of SAASE. It could be a company that manufactures trailers, or an individual who has a concession trailer or an entertainment act. SAASE is offering to each member who brings in an Associate/Service Member ½ of the membership fee for the first year.

The membership fee for an Associate/Service member is $200 per year. So that means for each Service member that a SAASE member brings in that Agricultural Society will receive $100. The Associate/Service Membership application form is located on the SAASE website, as well, as applications that have been sent out to the Agricultural Society Presidents and Secretaries.

ASSOCIATE/SERVICE MEMBER BENEFITS INCLUDE:

- SAASE Newsletter - It is published 4 times a year and is the source of information for what is happening with SAASE and its members. *An article highlighting the new service member will appear in the Service Member Profile section.
- Annual Convention - The annual convention is held in March every year. Included in the Service Membership is the opportunity for the member to set up a complimentary booth at our convention, as well as promoting their business with information that would be included in the convention packages.
- SAASE Website - The Service Member would have their profile included on the SAASE website, as well as a link to their website.
- Networking Opportunities - The SAASE membership allows our Service members an opportunity to get to know our SAASE members, as well as other people and organisations connected to the fair industry.
- SAASE Annual Directory - SAASE is in the process of producing our first ever directory which goes to all members. The Service Member will receive the Annual Directory, which will be an excellent source of SAASE member contact information and dates. The SAASE Directory will put our Service members – their services and products in front of SAASE members year round.

The Associate/Service membership will be an excellent way to not only help make SAASE grow, but give our Agricultural Societies a real resource to help them in their daily operations. I would encourage all of our Agricultural Societies to help out by bringing new Associate/Service members into SAASE. Not only will it help you out as far as fundraising is concerned, but it is a way that we can make the whole fair industry in Saskatchewan stronger.

~SAASE is pleased to announce that Synergy Solutions Group has become the first Associate Member of SAASE. A write up for Synergy Solutions Group can be found in the Member's Profile page in the newsletter. ~

Having a Berry Good Time

The first Saskatoon Berry Festival was held in Mortlach on Saturday, July 5th. Mortlach is the newest Ag Society to join SAASE. The Saskatoon Berry Festival is a Venture Project Program that was supported by SAASE. Below is an article that appeared in the July 13th edition of the Moose Jaw This Week Sunday Times. It was written by Colin Dewar.

Hometown pride was on display in the Village of Mortlach as it hosted its first Mortlach Saskatoon Berry Festival. The festival was held July 5 and surpassed all expectations. "Many say the Saskatchewan rural community is dying, but we will not go quietly into the night. We are here to stay and by celebrating this festival we have brought our mojo back," said Ron Locke, the Mayor of Mortlach.

The festival exceeded the expected 1,000 visitors, with close to 2,600 signing the register. Hundreds showed up for the opening parade, which was led off by a flypast by planes from 15 Wing Moose Jaw. Everything from tractors to clowns, horses to pipe bands marched down the Main Street of Mortlach to repeated applause. "I am blown away by the attendance. There will definitely be more (festivals) to follow," said Locke.

The talents of Celtic and powwow dancers, Native drumming, artists and musicians could be seen at every turn in the village. Mortlach also held its own film festival where aspiring filmmakers had a chance to exhibit their works about how proud they are to be in Saskatchewan.

Of course there was also the Saskatoon berry treat, one of the draws to the festival. Everything from jams, jellies and pies could be purchased. The Saskatoon berry pies sold out numerous times. Prairie Berries, one of the sponsors of the festival, managed to cook and deliver several unexpected batches as people raved about the pie.

"This is amazing, you can only get this here, in Saskatchewan. I really enjoy the smalltown pride. You don't get the same feeling in the city," said Terry Shalley who was visiting with his daughter from Regina.

There is a deep connection for many to the Saskatoon berry, it being historically rooted through the generations. "We are proud of our berry. There is an emotional attachment for many. Whole families have gone berry picking. It ties many of us together," said Sylvie Mischki, one of the coordinators of the festival.

With the province riding multiple booms and predicted to lead Canada in economic growth this year, Saskatchewan is a land of wheat, fuel, and smalltown pride, she said. "We live in a vibrant growing province, which just continues to develop and exceed expectations. I am very proud to be part of it," said Mischki.

- ~Festival facts~
- Over 2,500 visitors to the festival.
  - Over 300 pies were sold.
  - 65 entries in the parade.
  - 40 to 45 vendors/artists/craftsman.

Nokomis SK Celebrated its 100th Anniversary

Jack Lowndes and Bruce Godhe

Home Coming Weekend August 1 – 3, 2008

In cooperation and conjunction with the Nokomis Fair, Out West Management Inc., and the Nokomis Agricultural Society, they presented the first “Home Grown Talent Showcase” on Saturday, August 2 in the Nokomis Recreation Centre. The showcase featured four of Saskatchewan’s finest Country Music Artists who traveled from all over Saskatchewan to perform for the homecoming crowd. Event producer for the “Home Grown Talent Showcase” was Ann Hutter of Out West Management. She developed this stage so Saskatchewan singers would not only have a stage to perform from, but an opportunity to build new fans from the audiences that see the show. “The Saskatchewan Country Music Association was very helpful in getting the word out to singers about the Nokomis stage”, says Hutter, “And I’m very grateful for that. This is a new stage and it takes a tremendous amount of promotion to get this publicized. We want to present another showcase in 2009 during the Nokomis Fair as it will be Nokomis Fairs’ centennial.”

Glenna Switzer, from Swift Current, was the first showcase artist to perform that day. With her keyboard and voice she enthusiastically entertained the audience with her repertoire of classic rock and country songs. In demand, Glenna works all across Saskatchewan with her band “Blackwater” and remains busy 40 weeks a year performing. Jack Lowndes and Bruce Godhe of “J & B Rare”, from Wadena and Kelvington, were the next artists to showcase. They performed as a duo with bass guitar, lead guitar and vocals that afternoon, but are also part of the band Highway 49. Highway 49 released the CD, “It’s Just About Time” which received Saskatchewan radio play. Jack and Bruce also work as studio sessions players and can be heard on JJ Guy’s CD “Nothin But Blues Skies” which also received Saskatchewan radio play. Chris Henderson, from Estevan, was the final performer of the day. Chris is both a song writer and performer, and entertains audiences with his band all over Saskatchewan. His accomplishments include the single release, “The Difference You Make” in 2006 which received radio play, and he was a “CKRM Talent Search” finalist in 2006. Chris returned from Nashville earlier this year where he recorded his first full length album, “You Don’t Scare Me”, produced by Sean Hogan in the Gil Grand studio. The album will be released later this summer.
